'Evening at Tara'

The younger set took their cues from "Gone With the Wind" videos and donned pre-Civil War belle gowns and Confederate soldier uniforms for one of the most colorful parties of the season the other night.

The occasion — "An Evening at Tara" — took place at Phillippi Mansion and was thrown by Aileen and Dr. Randall Carter and Barbara and Bob Hall (AT&T Systems Leasing in Orlando) for deb daughters Rachel Hall and Stacy Carter.

Having their pictures taken in a horse-drawn carriage, their caricatures drawn by two Kingling School students and a buffet supper served by the Hyatt were enjoyed by a plethora of teens and their parents, most of whom also wore costumes. It was comical, though, to see all the Scarlett and Rhett's, Ashley's and Melanie's forgoing the reel in favor of line dancing to deejay-spun platters and taking turns at the mike for Karaoke fun.

The Debutante Ball, by the way, will take place April 17.

Hall and Wideman were most responsible for the Lady Sailors' outstanding 22-10 campaign that included district and regional titles before coming to an end at Lakeland in the sectional championship match.

Wideman stole the show at the end of the year with strong net play, but it was Hall's consistency that made the combination so lethal. Hall finished as Sarasota's kill leader, and Wideman wasn't far behind.

Social Debut for Seven...

"The Loveliest Night of the Year" could truly describe the 1993 Debutante Ball, set in Michaels Ballroom amid white satin ribbon streamers and orchid centerpieces (Floral Expressions by Russ), with stars of the evening: seven young ladies (all in variations of the gorgeous white gown) escorted by dads and young swains. In its 11th season, the event retains its traditions and protocol... however this year's ball had an easier ambience, less stiffness, more enjoyability, maybe due to the more intimate East Ave. location over more spacey rooms. Backgrounder by String Quartet of Florida West Coast Symphony's Youth Orchestra (for which the Ball benefits), guests were welcomed by chairman Mrs. Jansen Taylor, committee president Mrs. Ronald Susnar, FWCS president Neil Moody, and master of ceremonies Ronald Susnar, followed by a trumpet fanfare from Greg Jackson and Amanda Svenson announcing introduction of post-debs, and presentation of 1993 deb's Whitney Ann Best, Samantha Lauren Brenner, Stacy Susan Carter, Rachel Baldwin Hall, Bridgett Elaine Kermonde, Carolyn Cobb Lindsey, and Susan Elisabeth Offenbauer. A first this year, "Same-day party", with Sat. brunch given for Samantha Brenner by close friends of her mother's, Mrs. Beverly Lindsay and Dr. Angela Dixon (of Tulsa, Okla.) in the Orchid Room of the Longboat Key Club. Bet you didn't know: Debs' escorts should not be a boyfriend, but a brother or family friend. Also, bet you didn't know: One of the season's deb's is a beauty contestant (the next column). Dancing to Jerry Jerome's smooth orchestra, we saw the Jansen Taylors and post-deb daughter Trelawny, Alan and Pam Morris, Mrs. Richard Malkin, Mrs. Bart Coelingh, Mrs. Maxwell Cooke, Harry Adley, Jack and Paulette Schindler, and of course, all debutante parents. (Now we're ready for the Dilettante Ball)...

Seen About Town

We just love the Debutante Ball. It continues to be a stand-out during the entire social whirl. Every year, a new group of young women are presented to society in the most beautiful white gowns, and on the arms of the proudest dukes in the city. Their mothers, all with tears in their eyes, are shining with a light all their own.

The 11th Annual Debutante Ball was held at Michael's this year, and with the decorations, it was one of the prettiest events of the year. It's always fun to see the post-debutantes and hear what they've been up to since it was "their turn."
